

LUSCIOUS, BEAUTIFUL, EYE-CATCHING DESIGNS...

Peggy Rauso has a passion for the beautiful and the original. She studied painting at the Museum of Fine Arts in Houston, Texas while still a teenager and takes classes today in jewelry fabrication at the Museum's art school, the Glassell School of Art. Accompanying a friend to a gem show a few years ago, she fell in love with the stones and pearls she saw there. Peggy is drawn to what is unusual and beautiful and to the sparkling semi-precious gems, ornamental stones, pendants and artist pieces that inform her one-of-a-kind designs. "There is nothing like creating a neckpiece that causes your heart to leap," she says. "I think about how amazing the woman who ultimately wears it will look and I get butterflies. It's such a joyful process." When asked who her typical customer is, she replies, "My customer is anything but typical. She is vibrant, accomplished, sophisticated. She doesn't do ordinary... and neither do I." Peggy's designs are wonderful exclamation points for the woman unafraid to make a statement.
